

Thanks to everyone who turned up at Franks Park and braved our wonderful spring weather. When I woke up to snow which got steadily worse I wondered whether we might have to cancel. My car had 3-4 inches on it by the time I started loading equipment into it and I was worried that Halt Robin Road might be impassable. It turned out that the snow in Belvedere was much less severe than on Shooters Hill and I would have looked silly if I had cancelled.

One of the controls wasn't working and everyone who told me that they visited it has been given a credit. If you did visit it and haven't been given a credit then e-mail me with the number of the control and I will amend the results.

Thanks to Phil for helping me put out the controls and to Keith, Martin and Jennifer for getting them in. Thanks to Dave for bringing the kit and general help and waiting around in the cold before he could take it home.
